ACCREDITATION

Augustine College is a small, private, not-for-profit college founded in 1997 that operates on an academic par with many prestigious colleges and universities in Canada and the United States. As you may know, “Canada has no formal system of institutional accreditation,” as explained by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, a national organization for the support of Canada’s universities.¹ In Canada “there is no federal ministry of education or formal accreditation system. Instead, membership in the AUCC, coupled with the university’s provincial government charter, is generally deemed the equivalent.”² However, this provides an accreditation equivalent for only a portion of Canada’s universities: specifically, those with “an enrolment of at least 500 FTE students enrolled in university degree programs.”³ As we are by intention a small liberal-arts college conceived to offer an educational alternative to the large university, our enrolment will always be below that number. That makes us ineligible for membership in the AUCC and we must seek our accreditation in a different way.

We are accredited, instead, through the recognition and acceptance of our courses at larger, established, prestigious universities and colleges in both Canada and the United States. For example, we have an ongoing credit-transfer agreement with St. Francis Xavier University (Antigonish, Nova Scotia), which has for several years been named the top primarily undergraduate school in the nation by Maclean’s magazine.

In the United States, Augustine College graduates enter directly as sophomores at Wheaton College, in Wheaton, Illinois – one of “America’s 50 top liberal arts schools,” according to The National Review College Guide.

Augustine College courses have also been accepted at full university credit value by the University of Chicago and by Calvin College – second among Midwest comprehensive colleges according to the annual academic ranking of the respected U.S. News & World Report.

For other institutions, see CREDIT TRANSFER below.

We are also accepted by various scholarship-granting agencies whose conditions of eligibility require students “to be enrolled in an accredited Canadian college or university” – for instance, Toyota Canada, which recently awarded the Toyota Earth Day Scholarship to one of our students. The Program Manager of that award wrote, “We have discussed at length our criteria of ‘an accredited post-secondary institution’ and have concluded that Augustine College does meet our requirements for a post-secondary institution that provides an advanced level of education.”

As a not-for-profit educational institution, Augustine College has:

- An independent Board of Directors that:
 - is committed to public accountability and functions in an open and transparent manner;
 - has control over the institution's finances, administration, and appointments;
 - includes appropriate representation from the institution's external stakeholders (including the general public), from academic staff, from students and from alumni; and
 - uses the institution's resources to advance its mission and goals.
- A senior administration including a president and other senior officers appropriate to the size of the institution and the range of its activities.

Augustine College has an approved, clearly articulated, and widely known and accepted mission statement and academic goals that are appropriate to a university and that demonstrate its commitment to: (i) teaching and other forms of dissemination of knowledge and (ii) intellectual service to the community.

The College has as its core teaching mission the provision of education of university standard, with all of its programs set at that level.

Augustine College courses have been accepted at full university credit value by the following educational institutions.

Of Hillsdale College a student writes, “They were really good about transferring almost everything.” “Calvin College gave me a full year’s credit for my year at Augustine,” says another student; “almost all the courses I took earned me an equivalent at Calvin.” For another student at Wheaton College, Augustine College courses in science, philosophy, art history, music, mathematics, and Latin were all credited, allowing the student to enter directly as a sophomore. Another writes, “the University of Chicago has accepted five transfer credits from Augustine, which will help me fill the core requirements here. The credits transferred directly to my elective pool.”

ANSWERS TO A FEW COMMON QUESTIONS

1. How long does a student typically take to complete their studies at Augustine College?

Augustine College is a one-year program in which all students must follow the complete full-time program. There are 26 full weeks of classes, plus 1 reading week and 2 exam weeks. The program runs from 4 September 2005 to 22 April 2006.

2. After completing their studies, what kinds of certification or diploma would students receive?

Students who successfully complete the program – passing all courses as well as the 2-hour oral comprehensive exam – receive the Augustine College diploma. In the case of superior orders of performance final standings of cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude are awarded.

3. Does Augustine College issue an official tax receipt or Form T2202A for the student to claim tuition paid to an educational institution?

Yes it does.

4. Who teaches at Augustine College?

Members of the faculty are divided between retired academics with a long career of teaching and research at other universities and younger faculty (with either a Ph.D. or a Master's degree, many of who are currently teaching part-time at other universities).

ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS

THE DIPLOMA | The Augustine College Programme is designed as a mutually reinforcing set of courses; it is for the completion of the full academic programme that the Diploma is awarded. The Diploma is granted to all students who complete all of the work assigned in each course in the Programme and who receive at least a passing grade (50% or more) as their year-end average in each individual course. The completion of each course requires:

- attendance at every class (see CLASS ATTENDANCE below),
- thoughtful and informed class participation,
- the completion of every assignment in a timely fashion (regardless of his or her standing in a course, a student who does not submit an assignment cannot pass the course in which it was assigned and cannot therefore receive the diploma),
- adequate quality in the student's written work (assignments and papers) (see QUALITY OF WRITTEN WORK below),
- the completion of end-of-term exams.

The final requirement for completion of the Programme is participation in an informal end-of-the-year Oral Exam in the company of the Collegium.

Students may graduate with distinction: summa cum laude for an overall grade-point average of 90 percent or more, magna cum laude for an average of between 85 and 89 percent, or cum laude for an average of between 80 and 84 percent.

GRADE CODE | The grade code employed at Augustine College is an approximate average of the grading systems commonly employed in Canada and the United States. Grades are assigned as follows:

A+	95 – 100%	B+	80 – 84%	C+	65 – 69%	D	50 – 59%	F	less than 50%
A	90 – 94%	B	75 – 79%	C	60 – 64%
A-	85 – 89%	B-	70 – 74%

CLASS ATTENDANCE | Because the diploma is awarded for the entire Programme it is not possible to 'drop' certain courses to tailor the Programme to one's strengths and interests. This would have a negative effect on the student body as a whole. The material presented in class and the discussion that takes place around it is the core of the Augustine College Programme.

Attendance at every class of each course is mandatory and absence from class is cause for active concern on the part of the professor and the Administration. Excessive absence will signal the Student's withdrawal from the Programme. Students who have withdrawn from the Programme will not be permitted to remain in residence.

Students are therefore asked to communicate to the professor, in advance of a missed class, any absence due to illness. In exceptional cases absence for other reasons may be permitted but it is the responsibility of the student to request, some time in advance, permission to be absent from each professor whose class would be missed.

Students who have missed a class are responsible for ensuring that they cover in some fashion the missed material (for example, by making advance arrangements that the class be recorded in their absence). Professors are not obliged to re-teach missed classes or transmit notes or transcripts.

AUDITING | A student unable to complete all the work or write the mid-year (also called the 'mid-term') exam may, if circumstances warrant, be permitted to continue in the Programme as an auditor. No student, however, is permitted to begin the year as an auditor in any course.

If the Augustine College Programme is audited, however, no diploma is awarded and tuition is not lowered. Moreover, for this transition to be made students must first signal to the Dean the difficulty they are encountering with the workload. A shift to auditing status will follow only (i) after a period of assistance intended to help the student complete the Programme successfully and (ii) after the student submits to the Dean a written letter of request to audit, offering a sufficient explanation of his or her reasons for doing so.

SUBMISSION OF ASSIGNMENTS | Students are expected to submit papers and assignments on time. All assignments should be printed and ready for submission prior to the start of class; no class time will be made available for students to print due assignments.

For each late assignment, marks will be deducted at a rate (to be determined by the professor) that is at least 1% per day of lateness. This will apply during the full extent of the term.

QUALITY OF WRITTEN WORK | Students are expected to submit properly executed written work (assignments and papers), as defined by all of the following criteria. Submissions displaying any of these defects may be downgraded:

- written work must be legible: typed (using a single standard font in a uniform point size) or in very clear handwriting (in pen only, not pencil);
- out of respect for both the student's own work and its intended reader, all written work must be proofed (read-through and corrected) before it is submitted: any work submitted with misspellings, typographic errors, disjointed text, or other such evidence of insufficient interest in controlling the quality of written work will be appropriately downgraded;
- in all essays and papers, sources must be both fully noted and presented in the proper form;
- unless instructed otherwise students must submit course papers to the professor by hand and not electronically: it is the responsibility of the student to provide a hard-copy form of their work and deliver it either in class to the professor or to the Administrator for inclusion in faculty mail;
- each student is expected to make progress in writing over the course of each term: students must apply the principles of composition, etc., in which they are instructed.

☞ COURSES FORMING THE PROGRAM

Augustine College is a one-year program in which all students follow the complete full-time program of 8 full courses and 1 book-discussion seminar. There are 26 full weeks of classes, plus 1 reading week and 2 exam weeks.

1 BEGINNING LATIN

INSTRUCTORS | Dr. Edmund Bloedow

2 hours per week | Mondays, 8:30-9:30 am; Wednesdays, 11:30 am-12:30 pm

TEXT | Frederic M. Wheelock. Wheelock's Latin. New York: HarperCollins, 1995. 5th ed. or later.
ISBN 0060956410

SCOPE | In the first term we shall cover the first 25 Lessons of Wheelock's Latin taking 1–1 ½ Lessons per week. This will involve mastering the various word endings for nouns, adjectives, and pronouns; the verb conjugations; and the principal rules of grammar and syntax. At the same time, we shall translate during each lecture, chiefly from Latin into English. The remainder of the Lessons will be covered in the second term.

Students will read from classical authors, the Latin New Testament, and various Christian texts representing different historical epochs. The course will involve testing students on their progress in acquiring vocabulary and their facility with grammar.

GRADING | Grading will be based on:

weekly quizzes	valued at 50%
mid-year exam	2 hours, Dec 10, 25%
final exam	2 hours, April 14, 25%

2 PHILOSOPHY IN WESTERN CULTURE

INSTRUCTOR | Dr. Edward Tingley

3 hours per week | Mondays, 1:30-4:30 pm

OBJECTIVE | The purpose of this course is primarily to furnish students with philosophical resources for the living of their lives. To that end we will look primarily at two things: philosophy concerned with happiness and the ancient conception of human life connected with it (thus ethics and the issues of purpose, virtue, and character) and the rise of modern philosophy, with the issues attendant upon it (revolutions in epistemology, metaphysics, and ethics in the modern age, from Machiavelli to Postmodernism).

Despite its primary focus upon ethics (happiness and the good), this inquiry will draw us into consideration of a range of standard issues in philosophy: truth, justice, love, causation, free will, the soul, politics, the individual, reason, and education.

TEXT | The text for this course is formed entirely of readings from the works of the philosophers studied, which will be distributed as bound Readings – with the exception of Martin Buber’s I and Thou, which must be purchased. See READINGS, below.

ASSIGNMENTS & GRADING | The year-end grade will be based on exams (40%), assignments (30%), one paper of about 10 pages (20%), and the student’s contribution to the class (10%). These grades are broken down, in the following, to show the percentage of each component in the final grade at year end [bold] and percentage of the term grade [T].

FIRST TERM

weekly assignments	brief assignments to assist reading, valued at 15% of the final grade (37.5% T)
mid-year exam	2.75 hours, December 7, 20% (50% T) Includes a take-home component assigned November 30
intellectual courage	priceless – but valued at 5% (12.5% T)

SECOND TERM

weekly assignments	brief assignments, 15% (25% T)
major research paper	10 pages, due March 1, 20% (33% T) Topic to be determined in consultation with the professor final exam	2.75 hours, April 12, 20% (33% T) On material covering both terms and including a take-home component assigned April 6
intellectual courage	priceless – but valued at 5% (9% T)

READINGS | Students are required to have given the assigned texts a careful reading prior to class on the date of the corresponding lecture, as noted in the LECTURE SCHEDULE below. Readings for the Winter term will be delivered in December, prior to Christmas vacation, during which students are required to complete one reading.

3 ART IN WESTERN CULTURE

INSTRUCTOR | Dr. Edward Tingley

3 hours per week | Tuesdays, 10 am–1 pm

OBJECTIVE | This course is designed to do two things: first, to provide an introduction to Western art and, second, to serve the student as a laboratory for the use and formation of their mind.

First, this course is designed to offer an introduction to Western art in its spiritual and intellectual context, relative to key developments in the cultural life of the West. It does so in a steady effort to answer two primary questions: ‘What is an image?’ (a question central to the Bible) and ‘What is art for?’ The lectures move chronologically through the history of art, beginning with the art of ancient Egypt and ending with work made in the present year.

Its purpose is to give the student not a love of art but rather the ‘why’ and the ‘wherefore’ of the objects to be examined, so as to make it increasingly possible for the student to explore the scenario of a world without these works. (What would be the difference had they never been made: what, once you know what they are for, would you yourself, by your own reckoning, be deprived of had this or that work of art not existed?)

As a part of that undertaking (trying to understand art) we will look at several major written expressions, from various moments of Western history, of what art is for, what art must do, and what makes a work of art good – the various issues of, in a word, aesthetics.

Second, it is hoped that the student will take these two components – the art we see and attempt to understand and the aesthetic views of the past – as raw material with which to formulate, over the course of the year, a critical statement about what art, for a Christian, should be or do.

It is hoped that the student will take the views of art they encounter and thoughtfully assess them (either appropriating them or discarding them).

It is hoped, as well, that the student will use the art they will see in weekly slide presentations as test cases for the aesthetic view that they will spend the year formulating (by asking themselves, Why do I like or dislike this picture? Does it have what I have said all art should have? What do I get or not get from it that I want to get? Etc.)

It is not often that one has the opportunity to conduct such an experiment, which will surely allow each student to exercise his or her mind in a new way: setting on one side their own first answers to these questions and setting, on the other, some serious cumulative thinking about these very things (tested against actual works of art).

In this way this course is also about truth – possibly, a way to learn something not only about the art each student will see but about the human being they themselves are (a person with, likely, a natural readiness to like and dislike, to make claims about what art should do or be). How trustworthy are our first formulations? How difficult is it to say what good art is? How hard, to find the truth?

Slide-illustrated lectures, weekly readings in some signal texts of classical and Christian reflection upon art, supplementary readings, gallery visits, use of video resources, and a sustained, year-long effort to draft a reasonable Christian aesthetic – both individually and as a class – are all features of this course.

TEXTS & READINGS | The primary text of this course is the collection of bound weekly readings titled

Art & Images. Students are required to have read, prior to class, the section noted in the Readings column in the LECTURE SCHEDULE below. The supplementary text is E.H. Gombrich, The Story of Art, 13th ed.: students should also read the chapter noted in the Supp. column of the LECTURE SCHEDULE; they may choose to read it after the lecture, as a review.

WEEKLY ASSIGNMENTS | Each week, students are required, before a given class:

- to complete the weekly reading as noted in the LECTURE SCHEDULE; and, after that class and prior to the next class:

- to review the slides from each class and learn the essential information for the half-dozen-or-so works identified in the slide set with a star (★) – for more information, see SLIDE TESTS below;
- finally, to write a summary on one work of their choice from the slides shown in that week’s lecture, to be submitted at the end of the next class – for more information, see SUMMARIES below.

SLIDE TESTS | After each lecture the Powerpoint presentation with the slides for that lecture will be put on the computer in the classroom (see the folder on the desktop named “AC Art”).

Each term there will be two unscheduled slide-identification tests. This is designed to help students keep the works in proper chronological sequence and contemporary with other events in their respective periods of history. The student will be expected to give basic information about a half-dozen or so works per picture.

The specific slides in each Powerpoint presentation to study are marked with a star (★). For each such slide, learn the following basic information:

- if the work is a painting or a freestanding sculpture, give artist / title (or subject of the work) / date;
- if the work is a building or a sculpture incorporated into architecture (e.g., on a cathedral or a monument), give artist / name of building / location of building (the city or town) / date.

The date will be counted correct if it is within 50 years of the correct date – unless it is a date after 1900, which must be correct to within 10 years.

SUMMARIES | Beginning September 15, students are required to write a summary on one work of their choice from the slides shown in that week’s lecture, to be submitted at the end of the next class. For each summary:

- review the slides from the lecture just given;
- choose a work about which enough was said during the class that you could write informatively (it need not be a work marked with a star – ★);
- note clearly the basic information (defined above, under SLIDE TESTS);
- finally, write a paragraph of at least 150 words about the cultural significance of the work you have chosen. That is, explain what is in the work and, on the basis of the discussion in the lecture, discuss briefly how, through what this work presents, the work could contribute to making a person more truly human, or more truly in accord with the image of God.

This assignment might be hard to do initially but is a learning exercise that will prepare students for the exam. At least 40% of the exam at the end of each term will be based on the student’s ability to write from memory about at least five works of art in this manner. Each summary written prior to the exam will be marked on a pass/fail basis.

VIEWING | Students who have not seen the 13-part documentary series Civilisation: A Personal View by Sir Kenneth Clark are greatly encouraged to do so but this is not a requirement. Following the series will not only further prepare you for the lectures but will help link the works seen in this course with the music you are studying in Music in the Christian West (the selection of music in the series is excellent). The complete text of the series is in the library in book form, under the same title.

Digital files of each part of the series may be found in the course folder on the classroom computer. The appropriate programme relative to the lectures is noted on the schedule.

GRADING | The year-end grade will be based on exams (40%), slide tests (10%), two papers (40%), and the student's contribution to the class, which will include the summaries (10%), as follows (broken down to show both percentage of the final grade at year end and approximate percentage of the term grade [T]).

4 SCIENCE, MEDICINE, & FAITH

INSTRUCTORS | Dr. John Patrick, Dr. George Metelski

On average, 3 hours per week, divided between two sections

NB | A given week may include either sections A or B or both sections A and B.

AIM & SCOPE | The 19th-century fable that religion, particularly the Christian religion, was antagonistic to the development of science is now recognized as a very partial telling of the story. This course is intended to provide the background necessary to understand the complex history of thought that led to modern science. It asks,

What are the major ideas in science and how have those ideas evolved?

What are the common misconceptions and myths about science and the attitude of the Christian Church toward science?

And how have reason and faith worked together in the development of science?

In the first term we focus upon ancient and medieval times to approximately 1500. All human cultures have some forms of technology, which reflect the human response to the problems of survival: problem-solving may produce technology but not science. Number systems are an example of problem solving, which did not initially lead to any abstract systematization. Medicine, similarly, was a mixture of incantation, empirical remedies, and crude surgery, and to this day animistic cultures remain hard soil into which to plant scientific ideas. The flowering of abstract mathematics (largely geometry) and the great cultural insight of the Hippocratic physicians is examined, and then the decline into the uncritical encyclopaedic cataloguing of the Roman period. We then look at the slow emergence of what would become scientific thought following the rediscovery (via the Muslim world) of the works of Aristotle. The 13th and 14th centuries rather than the Enlightenment turn out to be a critical turning point, permitting the later revolutions of modern scientific thought with which the second term opens.

We turn in the second term to the great revolutions of modern science, in physics, astronomy, and the biosciences. In physics the first revolution in physics is associated with several developments: the idea of a new sun-centered, planetary system by Copernicus, Kepler's laws of planetary motion, experimental discoveries by Galileo with the telescope, and finally the formulation by Newton of the universal law of motion and the universal law of gravity. The second revolution comes with dramatic developments in physics, such as the discovery of electromagnetic and sub-atomic forces, Einstein's theories of special relativity and general relativity, and quantum mechanics – theories with profound implications for the way we understand the universe.

The first revolution in the biological sciences is the work of Darwin, building on earlier achievements in classification; the second is the development of biochemistry and physiological medicine; and the third is the arrival of molecular biology and genetics. All are based on a naturalistic exploration of the world, which is appropriate as long as it is a scientific convenience rather than (as Dawkins et alia maintain) the height of logical rationalism. Throughout the course the relationship between faith and science is emphasized but, over the eight months of this course, it becomes clear that purely naturalistic thinking, though appropriate to the practice of science, is utterly inadequate as an understanding of man.

GRADING | The final grade in each term will be the average of the grades assigned in both sections. The final grade in this course for the year will be the average of the final first- and second-term grades.

SECTION A Biology, Medicine, & Faith

INSTRUCTOR | Dr. John Patrick

2 hours per week for 9-11 weeks per term | Tuesdays, 2-4pm

ASSIGNMENTS & GRADING | Weekly readings should be completed prior to class according to the schedule below. In addition to the texts, please see 'Other Readings' column of the LECTURE SCHEDULE. These will be made available in handout form unless a web address is provided.

The assignments in this section of the course are as follows.

FIRST TERM

précis	1 page, due September 15
1st minor paper	3-5 pages, due November 10
2nd minor paper	2-3 pages, due December 1 a partial outline of the major paper (second term)
exam	there is no exam in this section of the course

SECOND TERM

3rd minor paper	3-5 pages, due February 23
major paper	7-8 pages, due March 30
class participation	engagement and participation in the course will be given major attention in the student assessment
exam	there is no exam in this section of the course

TEXTS |

FIRST TERM

David C. Lindberg. The Beginnings of Western Science: The European Scientific Tradition in Philosophical, Religious, and Institutional Context, 600 B.C. to A.D. 1450. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1992.
ISBN 0226482316

SECOND TERM

Michael Denton. Evolution: A Theory in Crisis. 3rd rev. ed. Bethesda, Md.: Adler and Adler, 1986.
ISBN 091756152X

David Stove. Darwinian Fairytales: Selfish Genes, Errors of Hereditary, and Other Fables of Evolution. N.Y.: Encounter Books, 2007.

FURTHER READING |

In the LECTURE SCHEDULE these are noted in the FURTHER column; thus, the “Denton” in that column is the work by Denton in the list below.

5 MUSIC & CULTURE IN THE CHRISTIAN WEST

INSTRUCTOR | Prof. Wesley Warren

2.5 hours per week | Wednesdays, 2-4:30 pm

SCOPE | From its roots in early Jewish temple and Christian chant forms, the history of Western art music will be traced through two thousand years of development. All major periods will be covered in detail and linked to significant world events and movements within other artistic disciplines. Each class will include not only a lecture but also listening, discussion, and reflection. Music of the Christian Church, allied with developments in her doctrine, liturgy, and spirituality, will be given a prominent place in the curriculum.

TEXT | Donald Jay Grout and Claude V. Palisca. A History of Western Music. 6th ed. New York: W.W. Norton, 1996. ISBN 0393975274 Additional materials will be provided during the term.

ASSIGNMENTS | Each week students are required to have read, prior to the lecture, the assigned portions of the text and to have listened to the assigned cds, which will be made available two weeks in advance of the class for which they are appointed. Students are encouraged to listen actively, i.e., not engaging in any accompanying activity. On occasion there are additional readings as well as viewing assignments, as noted in the LECTURE SCHEDULE below.

Students will also be expected to attend the four Monday concerts of the Ottawa Symphony Orchestra at the National Arts Centre, at 8 pm on October 1, November 19, February 11, and April 14; tickets provided by a benefactor of the College will be available from the Administrator. Students are also encouraged to attend other recitals posted from time to time on the College bulletin board.

It is hoped that there will be opportunities to perform in class both individually and corporately.

GRADING | The grade will be based on:

2 midterm tests one per term, October 28 and February 24

2 listening quizzes one per term, December 9 and April 14

2 exams one per term, December 9 and April 14

major research paper approximately 10 pages, due date T B A

The remaining portion of the grade is based on the student's contribution to the class throughout the year.

6 LITERATURE IN WESTERN CULTURE

INSTRUCTOR | Prof. Trevor Tucker

2 hours per week | Thursdays, 10 am–12 noon

DESCRIPTION | If it is true that “we read to know we are not alone” and that the “role of the writer is to instruct,” then good literature must be a mentor. This course is designed with both a strong academic and experiential thrust as we read through time-proven literary touchstones as well as modern ones with a reflective/devotional posture. This is more than a head exercise; these stories are meant to be experienced. Themes such as forgiveness, the benignity or malignity of the gods, sources of revelation, and one’s place in the established order will all be examined in light of our own experience of the faith. We will wonder with Lear why evil prospers; we will affirm Edgar’s words to his aged father: “Thy life’s a miracle; speak yet again.” We will read through Milton’s epic justification of God’s ways to man; we will read Orual’s, too, which sets out to “accuse the gods” only then to admit, “I know now, Lord, why you utter no answer. You are yourself the answer.” Odysseus, Dante, Othello, Scrooge, Godric, the Ancient Mariner – we will walk with them and they with us.

TEXTS & READINGS | Over the course of the first term students are required to read, in a reflective way, one book per week of Milton’s *Paradise Lost, which we will take up at the beginning of each class; readings are noted under MILTON in the LECTURE SCHEDULE below. Students are further required to have read, prior to the related class, the whole of the texts (or the portions that were previously assigned) as noted under READINGS.

It is important that you not do the readings a half-hour before class. Get alone with the texts; find some time to immerse yourself in them. For each class you should be able to discuss what you have read and, where appropriate, how it relates to your own experience and beliefs, past and present.

For the Divine Comedy, the work may be read online, in the translation by Henry Cary: <http://www.bartleby.com/20/>; the same translation may be downloaded at <http://www.gutenberg.org/etext/8800>.

Other texts, as per the list previously sent:

Wendell Berry. Fidelity: Five Stories, which includes “Jonquil for Mary Penn,” “Pray Without Ceasing,” and “Making It Home.” Pantheon, 1992. ISBN 0679748318

Frederick Buechner. Godric. Harper Collins, 1980. ISBN 0060611626

G.K. Chesterton. The Man Who Was Thursday. Penguin Classics, 1990. ISBN 0140183884 - or another edition.

Charles Dickens. A Christmas Carol. Any edition.

NB | Further to the list previously sent, students are required to purchase the following text:

Homer. Odyssey. Any edition. The classic translation by Robert Fitzgerald is faithful to the original poetic form: ISBN 0374525749; an inexpensive prose rendering is published by Dover: ISBN 0486406547.

C.S. Lewis. Till We Have Faces: A Myth Retold. Harvest Books, 1980. ISBN 0156904365 - or another edition

George MacDonald. Lilith: A Romance. Any edition, or it may be read online at: <http://www.ccel.org/m/macdonald/lilith/Lilith.html>

John Milton. Paradise Lost. Any edition.

David Adams Richards. Mercy Among the Children. Doubleday Canada, 2000. ISBN 0385259174

William Shakespeare. Othello. Any edition.

William Shakespeare. King Lear. Any edition.

All further readings will be made available to the student at no cost in the Text Supplement (poems by Samuel Taylor Coleridge and William Wordsworth, Life in the Iron Mills by Rebecca Harding Davis, and “Writing Short Stories” by Flannery O’Connor).

GUEST LECTURES | Two lectures will be conducted by guest lecturers: Prof. Dominic Manganiello, professor in the Department of English at the University of Ottawa, on October 1 and Prof. James Parsons, on February 25.

ASSIGNMENTS & GRADING | Students will be responsible for one paper and one presentation per semester. Participation in class discussion is valued at 10% of the grade; the final exam, at 25%.

FIRST TERM

- preparation for the class of September 10, not graded | in preparation for the reading of John Milton’s Paradise Lost, students should formulate a scripturally based perspective on gender and gender roles, as this is a regular topic of discussion around Milton’s retelling of the creation account. A short personal study of Genesis 1-3 provides a helpful starting point. Nothing need be submitted on paper; the student should be prepared to contribute thoughtfully to discussion of this issue
- 1st paper 10 pages, due December 3, valued at 35% | Proposal due November 5. A major paper on a topic chosen from the list provided on September 17 or on a topic of your choice. Some possible topics include: Was Milton theologically unorthodox? Why did God include the tree of knowledge (using the poem itself, not the Bible)? What are the sources of the Romantic impulse? Does Shakespeare’s apparent rejection of Aristotle’s unities probably weaken or strengthen his plays? Do Dickens’s characters, as Eliot suggests, have “no psychological life?”
- 1st presentation 15% | a 4-minute-plus recitation of a favourite passage from King Lear, Hamlet, or Othello with a 1-page explanation of the passage, how it relates to the themes discussed thus far, and why you chose it. The mark will be based on passion of delivery, level of comfort with the language, and the depth of your explanation as to why you chose the passage. The presentation dates will be decided in class.

SECOND TERM

- 2nd paper due March 11, valued at 20% | A creative piece – a short story (preferably of an allegorical or a fairy-story nature), a poem, or a one-act play highlighting some of the key themes discussed over the course of the year. You will be marked for passion, creativity, uniqueness, conciseness of language, and depth of development.
- 2nd presentation 10% | a presentation focusing on the theme of seeing and related to 'Till We Have Faces, Life is a Miracle, and Dillard’s three essays. Format TBA; the presentation dates will be decided in class.

7 READING THE SCRIPTURES

INSTRUCTOR | The Reverend Doug Hayman

2 hours per week | Thursdays, 1:30-3:30 pm

R eading the Bible should be a form of prayer. The Bible should be read in God's presence and as the unfolding of His mind. It is not just a book, but God's love letter to you. It is God's revelation, God's mind, operating through your mind and your reading, so your reading is your response to His mind and will. Reading it is aligning your mind and will with God's; therefore it is a fulfillment of the prayer, "Thy will be done," which is the most basic and essential key to achieving our whole purpose on earth: holiness and happiness.

Peter Kreeft, You Can Understand the Bible: A Practical and Illuminating Guide to Each Book in the Bible (San Francisco: Ignatius Press, 2005), xi–xii.

DESCRIPTION | The Bible is foundational to the development of Western thought and culture, yet most people have no more than a passing acquaintance with its contents. Even the experience of many (dare I say most?) church-going Christians tends to be of piecemeal encounters with Scripture: Sunday-school stories about 'heroes of the Bible', Christmas pageants, seasonal readings and sermons, favourite hymns and choruses, etc.

TEXT | The Bible. Any recognized translation (rather than a paraphrase). It is ideal for students to have access to both a 'literal' translation (e.g., KJV, RSV, NASB, etc.) and one that follows the 'dynamic equivalence' model (e.g. NIV, NEB, NAB, etc.). The College Library provides a variety of translations and commentaries.

The aim of this course is to encourage students to approach Scripture as a whole, to see that, although the Bible is in fact a library – scores of books, each with its own integrity, written over the course of centuries, by numerous human authors – it is yet bound together as one volume, by the one Divine Author, presenting a coherent revelation: God's Word to His people.

While our focus will be primarily on the content of the Bible, we will also reflect upon how we read and understand the text, often drawing into our discussion insights from other Christian writers throughout the centuries.

EXPECTATIONS | Although the class format will include lectures, this course is essentially a seminar in which students will have the opportunity to discuss, with the professor and with one another, questions that arise from their reading and preparation. Knowledgeable participation of students depends substantially upon careful reading. Students should read all the assigned readings prior to class (see the LECTURE SCHEDULE below) and arrive in class with insights upon the texts and having prepared thoughtful questions for discussion.

ASSIGNMENTS | There will be a one-page synopsis and a short essay, to be submitted each term. In addition, there are weekly assignments, which may be quite brief. There will be no exam in the first term but there will be a final examination at the end of the second on the material treated over the entire year.

FIRST TERM

- synopsis 1-page synopsis due September 17 | Write a synopsis of the Introduction to the Ignatius Catholic Study Bible
- weekly as noted in the LECTURE SCHEDULE below
- term paper 4-5 pages or 1,000-1,250 words, due November 26 | Deuteronomy 8, Psalm 106, and 1 Corinthians 10 all reflect back upon Israel's time in the wilderness. Compare and contrast how they view that time and what God's people are to learn from it – e.g., what does it teach us about God's faithfulness? about our experience of trials and temptations?

- synopsis 1-page synopsis due January 28 | Write a synopsis of Luke 1 & 2
- weekly as noted in the LECTURE SCHEDULE below
- term paper 7-9 pages or about 2,000 words, due March 25 | topic T B A
- final exam 2 hours, April 15 | covering both terms

GRADING | The final mark will be calculated at 40% of the first-term grade plus 60% of the second-term grade.

FIRST TERM	synopsis	10%
	weekly assignments and class participation	50%
	paper	40%
SECOND TERM	synopsis	5%
	weekly assignments and class participation	25%

SCHEDULE | In the schedule below, Bible readings are indicated thus (with colons used, in standard fashion, to separate chapter and verse):

Genesis 1:1-2:3 – that is, Genesis, chapter 1, verse 1, through to chapter 2, verse 3.

2 Samuel 1; 6-7; 11-12; 22-23 – that is, 2 Samuel, chapters 1, 6, 7, 11, 12, 22, and 23.

8 TRIVIUM SEMINAR

INSTRUCTORS | Dr. Edward Tingley and Prof. Trevor Tucker

2 hours per week | Fridays, 12:30 pm–2:30 pm

DESCRIPTION | This course is a practical seminar in techniques of understanding, logic, and effective argument. It therefore reflects the three components of the ancient trivium: Grammar, Logic, and Rhetoric, once counted essentials of any proper education.

Grammar here is understood not in the sense of the structuring and mechanics of sentences, which by now you have studied, but the structuring and mechanics of texts, sentences assembled into the kinds of texts you will typically study at this college and at other universities. This is addressed by analyzing the short texts that we will read from week to week.

Great emphasis is placed upon careful reading. To learn well and write well you must understand how writers organize complex thoughts – you must first learn to read well. The seminar assists the student to read with greater comprehension using techniques of textual analysis (students are shown how to read with a pencil, analyze texts into divisions, identify theses, mark cross-references, etc.) and by précis writing.

In addition, students are instructed in the writing of papers. Exercises allow the student, through regular practice, to improve their writing ability.

Logic is approached by instructing the student to identify and defuse the most common logical fallacies.

And, finally, Rhetoric is addressed by exercises intended to help students to speak and debate publicly with more effectiveness and greater comfort. The course begins with Friday lunch, over which we will discuss a topic in a way that will train the student in the arts of discussion.

TEXT | All assigned readings will be distributed as handouts. The texts that are chosen for these readings are intended to introduce the student to present-day issues of interest to Christians (e.g., secularism, expertise, the theory of war, abortion, jihad, reason and faith, etc.).

ASSIGNMENTS | There are weekly assignments in this course but no exam.

DISPUTATIO ET PANIS SALUBRIS | The class commences at lunch (the panis salubris, beginning sharp at 12 noon), over which, and with the benefit of instruction, we will during the course of the year conduct an increasingly civilized discussion (the disputatio). By the use of this latter term we intend more than what is typically understood by the word ‘discussion’: not merely the back and forth of argument but an effort to make collective progress on an assigned topic of discussion considered worthy of our attention.

The discussion will be led by the instructor, who will announce both the topic and the question to be addressed (one per week). Students are at liberty to respond freely and will be assisted to do so clearly and constructively.

The course of the year will thus afford training in the rights and responsibilities of speakers and listeners: the right of the speaker to hold forth without interruption, tempered by the responsibility of the speaker to speak clearly and briefly; the right of the listener to criticize, tempered by the responsibility of the listener to listen carefully and with patience and to speak respectfully.

Students are invited to propose a topic and question of their own choosing. These may be drawn from any of the week's classes or may have to do with social, religious, or political affairs, including moral issues of College life, the rightness or wrongness of our own actual conduct.

GRADING | The grade for this course is pass or fail. A passing grade is required for the diploma.

SCHEDULE | Please note that owing to changes to Trivium in 2009–10 the following schedule is tentative, beginning at October 9. The final schedule for this course will be issued by October 2.

9 BOOK OF THE SEMESTER

LEADER | Emily Martin, Michael Trolley

1 hour per week | Tuesdays, 6:30-7:30 pm

DESCRIPTION | The Book of the Semester group is open to the entire Collegium, friends included. The leader will open each session with brief remarks on the text; a loosely guided group conversation, focused on the text, its meaning, and its implications, will follow. The group reads with two purposes in mind: to understand the work we are reading and to learn what we can from it.
